Graduate Careers Australia

The Graduate Careers Australia (GCA) portfolio includes the popular Graduate Careers Australia website and a full range of careers education literature and videocassettes. Visit www.graduatecareers.com.au

The website is a source of information about graduate careers and employment, which has been created for students and graduates of Australian universities, as well as employers, researchers and careers professionals –

- Students and graduates – the Graduate Careers Australia website offers many features including an all-in-one job vacancy search, industry career profiles, careers service contacts, résumé and job application writing tips, interview strategies and information about further study.
- Careers professionals – in addition to breaking news and events concerning higher education and careers, professional resources and reference tools such as Campus Contacts, the Graduate Careers Australia website also features the Career Communicator mini-site, including resource sharing, forums and more.

Congratulations, Graduate!

Congratulations on becoming a graduate of The University of Queensland! While your studies might be over for the time being, I hope your relationship with your Alma Mater will continue in a mutually-beneficial way.

You will have made many friends and professional contacts during your student days and one way to keep in touch is to join a UQ alumni network. Please refer to the separate brochure included in your Graduation folder.

The University would also like to keep you informed of activities and events that might be of interest. To do so, we need you to keep us informed of any change of address – you can do so now by completing the attached reply-paid postcard.

One activity of interest is the Australian Graduate Survey (AGS). The University will contact you to invite you to participate in the AGS so you can tell us about your experience at UQ, as well as tell us what you have been doing since you graduated.

The AGS is a national survey which is conducted each year by all Australian universities. Your completed AGS will help by –

- letting other students in your program know what career options are open to them;
- giving UQ feedback on the quality and relevance of its programs and courses.

Your feedback is important – it helps us to help new students with careers advice and to improve our teaching and learning practices. I hope you will take the time to complete the survey when it arrives.

Once again, congratulations on your achievements.

Debbie Terry

Deputy Vice-Chancellor (Teaching and Learning)
